A: This is why I don't like to live in a big city.
 B: I understand you. Every day, the traffic is heavy.
 A: Whew, this morning, it's more terrible! It'll take more than 2 hours to get to the office. What if we may run out of gas in the middle?
 B: Don't worry. I think it's enough.
 A: We'd better take a subway tomorrow.

Dear Hansu,

How are you doing? I came back to school yesterday after enjoying a wonderful summer vacation in Korea.

Above all, I enjoyed Korean food and culture a lot with your help. I won't forget that. Thank you very much.

I hope you have a chance to visit New York someday so that I can return your favor on me.

This time, bye.

Sincerely yours,
William

At that time, most passengers were getting ready for bed. Out in the cold, a man stood watching waves. Suddenly, up ahead, he saw something in the water. He rang three bells at once and shouted, "Iceberg! Right ahead! Stop!" But it was too late. The iceberg made a 300-foot hole in the Titanic's right side. Soon, the ship was filling with water and sinking fast.

When I was a child, there was a river in front of my house. It was very clean. I used to swim and catch fish there. Sometimes my mother used to wash clothes in the river. But, now the river is not as clean as before. It is much polluted by garbage. So I can't go there any more for swimming or fishing.

Do you have an e-mail address? No? Well, about half of the students around the world have their own e-mail address. E-mail helps them with their homework. Also, many of them use it for fun—chatting with their friends. Furthermore, they can talk with people anywhere with e-mail. It is much faster and costs much less than mailing a letter.

There are differences in the ways of life between old people and young people. Young people prefer making phone calls to writing letters, and they like to travel by air rather than by bus or by train. But this is not true to old people.

Don't waste your time making impossible plans for your future. Great plans are important, but not really helpful if you can't achieve them. Set yourself possible goals and try to achieve them step by step. Also remember that you need to live in the present as well as have your dreams for the future.

A man had two daughters. The first daughter was a gardener, and the second daughter made pots. The two daughters lived in different places.

One day the man went to see his first daughter. "How are you?", he asked. "Just terrible. The garden is very dry under the sun. I need much rain for my plants." said the daughter.

On that day he also went to see his second daughter. "How are you?", he asked. "Pretty good. The pots are well drying under the sun. I don't need any rain for my pots." said the daughter.

The man came back home and talked to his wife about the daughters' situations. She said, "Well, ask God to send rain and not to send rain at one time."
